Dear [REDACTED] 25X1C

25X1C For some time I have meant to write you expressing our pleasure and satisfaction at the way in which the visits from your [REDACTED] worked out.

25X1C The men in our Analysis Division found [REDACTED] to be immensely stimulating and a very effective co-worker, and I, too, enjoyed and profited from my discussions with him. I am sorry that [REDACTED] visit had to be so short, but found it, too, most worthwhile from our point of view. 25X1C

I do hope we can continue this interchange regularly and frequently, but would ask one small favor of you. Our security and administrative people have rather ponderous procedures and require a fortnight's advance warning in order to smooth the way for visitors. I feel that receiving such word from you on future visits will make it possible for us to have such items as passes and other arrangements conveniently made prior to the arrival of your people.

I do hope I shall be able to pay you a visit within the next few months. At this moment, January appears to be the most convenient for me. Would you let me know at your convenience how a short trip around then would appeal to you.

Most sincerely,

Assistant Director
